Gigantic Attack Under Way to Crack Last Defenses of Fortified Cherbourg

Nazis Reel Back Under Weight Of Blasting From Sky

Waves of British and American Planes Sweep Area In Unprecedented Assault Lasting Eighty Minutes

DOUGHBOYS AWAITING ORDERS TO GO AHEAD

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces unlimbered this afternoon their greatest assault since the storming of the beaches of Normandy—a combined land and air attack intended to crack the last defenses of the fortified city of Cherbourg.

The attack began when waves of British and American planes swept in with a terrific aerial barrage lasting 80 minutes, a field dispatch from Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead reported.

Rocked back on their heels by the weight of this assault in which light and medium bombers dropped down to cannon-mouth level to drop their explosive charges, the Germans were immediately beset by a thunderous artillery pounding which left smoke and flame sweeping the German forts.

YANK RAIDERS AGAIN POUND ROCKET AREA

Fourth Bombing In Less Than 24 Hours Directed At Platforms in Pas-De-Calais Section

AFTER NIGHT ATTACKS

By GLADWYN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22—(AP)—Fleets of light and medium bombers carried out a crushing offensive in support of American troops hammering into Cherbourg today, while big forces of American heavy bombers, attacking through flak batteries, plowed Pas-de-Calais rocket bomb installations.

Marauders, Havocs and Thunderbolts swooped down to within 100 feet of German cannon to drive home the closest support yet given Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's Doughboys.

Fortresses and Liberators gave the rocket launching grounds their fourth pounding in less than 24 hours.

The daylight blow followed a night of far-flung aerial attacks extending from France to Germany's industrial Ruhr and Berlin—dwarfing the Germans' cross-channel barrage of rocket bombs, which they asserted today are now coming over with incendiary loads.

(The Germans also said, without Allied confirmation, that the American forces were attacking the area.)

British - Canadian Forces Praised

Washington, June 22—(AP)—American forces in the Cherbourg peninsula have trapped elements of three German divisions in the Normandy port and its environs, War Secretary Stimson reported today.

The "striking advances" which gave the doughboys possession of the entire neck of the peninsula were credited in large part by the secretary to British and Canadian operations at the southeastern end of the Normandy front. The Allied forces there "so engaged the enemy that he had no uncommitted strength to threaten the American corridor."

These British and Canadian forces, Stimson told a news conference, not only repelled German counterattacks but drove forward to enlarge their own holdings.

Stimson called the pilotless aircraft with which the Nazis have been attacking England a new weapon "for harassing purposes," adding that various counter measures have been undertaken and "it may be said that these robot planes are not yet a major factor in the war."

Unit Marching Up Adriatic Coast As Eighth Army Troops Drive Toward Camerino

WEATHER IS IMPROVING

By LYNN HEINZLERING

Rome, June 22—(AP)—Allied and Italian troops are within 32 miles of Ancona, prize Italian port on the Adriatic coast, while Eighth Army troops are approaching Camerino, approximately 35 miles east and a little north of Perugia, Allied headquarters announced today.

American forces to the west have pushed on 15 airline miles northwest of Grosseto. In all land operations, although weather has improved, misty conditions are preventing cross-country movements on a large scale, a communiqué said.

The advance toward Ancona, ranking next to Venice in port facilities in that coastal sector, was made by troops which have reached Fermo, only 65 airline miles below Rimini, the eastern anchor of the so-called Pisa-Florence-Rimini line, where the fleeing Germans may offer stiff resistance against the Allied drive.

Eighth Army troops have also approached Nocera Umbra, 14 miles west of Camerino. Limited gains were made north of the newly-taken ancient fortress city of Perugia, and in the Lake Trasimeno area west of Perugia, despite strong resistance.

Water Board Has Hearing At Franklin

Franklin, June 22—(AP)—Plans for cleaning up all streams in this section of the state were revealed today at a hearing before the State Sanitary Water Board attended by about a hundred municipal officials, industrial representatives and delegates of sportsmen's organizations.

Due to an almost total absence of pollution in French Creek and the Allegheny river in this area, the hearing, at which Dr. A. H. Stewart, secretary of the state department of health presided, lasted less than two hours.

City officials explained how Franklin's sewage disposal plant, in operation several years, had virtually cleared the Allegheny river of contamination below the city.

Members of Dr. Stewart's party planned to meet with oil producers at Oil City later today.

Fishermen Warned By Supreme Commander

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22—(AP)—While fighting raged at Cherbourg, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made clear to the Germans today that they could not pay attention alone to the defense of that port.

In a radio warning the Allied commander-in-chief told the fishermen of Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France to stay in port until 9 p. m. Tuesday, June 29. This was the second seven-day extension of the original supreme command warning to fishermen.

"G. I." Bill Of Rights Signed By Roosevelt

Washington, June 22—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the "G. I. Bill of Rights" setting up a vast government aid program for veterans of this war.

With congressional leaders and heads of veterans' organizations looking on, the chief executive put his signature to the measure authorizing federal loans, hospitalization, job insurance, schooling and other ex-service benefits estimated to cost between $3,000,000,000 and $6,500,000,000.

The president said the bill carries out most of the recommendations he has made for veterans' aid and notifies the members of the Armed Forces that the people at home will not let them down.

Mr. Roosevelt used ten pens to sign the bulky bill, tapping each on his blotter and handing it over his shoulder to members of congress who witnessed the signature.

Designated the "G. I. bill of Rights" by the American Legion and other sponsors, the measure (Turn to Page Eleven)

War Bonds Sales In Area Increase

Philadelphia, June 21—(AP)—In the greatest 24-hour increase since the start of the Fifth War Loan drive, sales to individuals in Pennsylvania rose yesterday to bring total sales in that bracket to $89,127,803 or 20.16 per cent of the $442,000,000 quota. G. Ruhland Rebmann, Jr., chairman of the State War Finance committee, announced today.

Rebmann said the state is ahead of the national average in the bond and individual sales. Sales of Series E bonds rose to $50,553,075, or 22.7 per cent of the $224,000,000 quota in that category, Rebmann said.

Sales in the Fort Pitt area, which includes 19 western Pennsylvania counties, rose to $13,889,400 or 18 per cent of its $71,168,000.

Youthful Auto Thieves Taken By Police After Thrilling Chase Through Busy Traffic

One of the most thrilling police chases that ever took place in the city occurred last evening about 4:30, when Lieut. Mike Evan, accompanied by Howard Alexander, gave chase to two youthful automobile thieves. The Buick car containing the two youths was intercepted near the Fairchild & Betts plant on Pennsylvania avenue, west. It pulled toward the curb and suddenly shot out at full speed, headed up the avenue. Evan, in the police car, gave chase and through red lights and the busy traffic, which at that hour of the afternoon is especially heavy, raced the Buick, with the police car in hot pursuit. In an endeavor to clear traffic, the siren on the police car screamed loudly.

At a speed of better than 70 miles an hour the cars tore up Pennsylvania avenue until at Market street the thieves turned into Water street. Traveling at such a high rate of speed, they were unable to make the curve at Water and East street. An automobile owned by Walter Kiser was rammed by the Buick and the rear end stove in. The Buick sustained heavy damage on the front end.

Leaping from the car as the police cruiser screeched to a stop, the lads ran down the dead end of East street. Confronted by the mill race, they did not hesitate, but leaped into the water. Swimming and wading in the water which is about five feet in depth they hurried to get across. Lieut. (Turn to Page Two)

Casualties Near Quarter Million Mark

Washington, June 22—(AP)—American battle casualties are nearing the quarter-million mark. Secretary Stimson reported today that army casualties through June 6 (which would include D-Day) totaled 178,677, an increase of 7,319 since his report on June 8, which covered the period through May 21. The army's dead now total 31,289, an increase of 2,337. The new announcement reports 71,432 wounded, 39,976 missing and 35,980 prisoners.

A navy casualty list announced today reports an overall figure of 46,705, an increase of 932 since a list published two weeks ago. Those killed total 20,044, an increase of 242. Wounded amount to 12,905, missing 9,295 and prisoners 4,461.

American army ground forces fighting in Italy since the landings last September suffered casualties totalling 64,992 through June 15. This was an increase of 2,991 since a report last week which covered the period through June 5. The dead in the Italian campaign now total 11,610, an increase of 507. Wounded are 44,426 and missing 8,956. In the same period, air forces in this theatre operating in Italy and in (Turn to Page Eleven)

Widow of Will Rogers Is Dead

Santa Monica, Calif., June 22—(AP)—Will Rogers' widow, whom he courted on a bicycle and whom he called "my first sweetheart," is dead.

Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, 65, succumbed at the Rogers ranch home in Santa Monica canyon last night. Relatives said she had been ill for several weeks, and that she suffered a severe attack of influenza in Washington, D. C., during the winter.

Rogers, whose crinkly smile and quick wit won him fame as a humorist and philosopher, was killed with Flier Wiley Post in an Alaska plane crash in 1935. A month ago today, his body was entombed at Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla., his home town. Mrs. Rogers' body likewise will be interred there.

Elusive Nipponese Fleet Refuses To Battle Americans

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Reports That In Sunday Engagement Enemy Lost 353 Planes In Addition to Carrier and Ships

NO EFFECTIVE COUNTER-ACTION IS OFFERED

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

American Pacific fleet planes staggered Japan's elusive fleet Monday in a surprise attack which cost the enemy one aircraft carrier and three other ships sunk and at least nine damaged, including a battleship.

The elusive enemy fleet, caught completely off base, offered no effective counteraction and fled from contact with the mighty U. S. Fifth Fleet hovering off the Marianas islands.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported also that in the Sunday air battle the enemy lost 353 planes instead of the previously-reported 300. This was an even greater air victory than that achieved by the American fleet at Midway two years ago.

The Midway battle still ranked first in this war's Pacific naval actions, however, followed in scope by the Guadalcanal battle in November 1942.

American plane losses in the Monday battle were 49.

The carrier sunk was listed by Nimitz as the Hayataka class. The battleship was of the Kongo class, 29,000 tons.

The enemy fleet included four or more battleships, five or six carriers, five fleet tankers and uncounted cruisers and destroyers.

That the enemy fleet was still avoiding battle as late as yesterday (U. S. time) was reported by AP Correspondent Rembert James, aboard the U. S. flagship off Saipan island.

James' dispatch, dated June 22 Saipan time (June 21 U. S. time) also disclosed that Asito airstrip on the invaded island which lies only 1,500 miles from Tokyo and the Philippines has been made ready for operation. Navy Seabees have lengthened Asito's 3,600 foot main runway.

James said that after nearly a week of complex naval fighting in the vast stretches of ocean between the Marianas chain of islands and the Philippines the enemy fleet was still hanging back. This report tended to confirm impressions in Washington that Japan's navy unwittingly was caught off base and was as reluctant as ever to engage the U. S. Fifth Fleet.

Bitter ground fighting continued on Saipan as American marines and infantry advanced northward along Magicienne bay and tightened the noose around Japanese forces trapped on the island's southeastern tip. A curious feature of the land battling was the action of many Japanese civilians pouring through American lines (Turn to Page Eleven)

Assault On Soviet Airfield Claimed

London, June 22—(AP)—The German radio said today that German bomber formations had made a large scale attack against the Russian airfield at Poltava in the Ukraine—where the Germans had said American shuttle bombers were resting after their attack on Berlin from Britain yesterday.

"For about an hour several hundred heavy calibre high explosives and thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped on installations of this large Soviet airbase," said a DNB broadcast.

"Conflagrations were observed in every part of the field." Neither the report that U. S. air forces were based at Poltava nor the account of the attack was confirmed in Allied quarters. Poltava is about 550 miles northeast of Bucharest and 1,500 miles on a direct line from London.

Ira Chase Koehne, attorney for three of the defendants, filed the affidavit. He wants Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher to require Nye to produce papers he alleges are in the senator's possession.

The trial proceeded today with the reading of scores of government exhibits, mostly articles from the newspapers of the German-American bond.

Washington, June 22—(AP)—An attorney said in an affidavit on file in U. S. district court today that Senator Nye (R-ND.) made but failed to keep a promise to provide evidence for the defense in the mass sedition trial of 29 defendants accused of conspiring to undermine the morale of the armed forces.

Evan pulled his revolver and ordered the boys to "turn back". He fired three shots over their heads and they finally waded back to shore and surrendered.

Taken to the police station the boys were stripped and placed in cells. Dry clothing from a duffle bag carried by one boy and a suit case carried by the other were given them. As soon as they were dressed in dry clothing they settled down in their cells and soon announced they were hungry. A meal was given them from the McCabe Restaurant.

Statements were taken during the evening from both lads and from their wallets a score or more girls pictures were taken along with their social security and other cards.

Both boys hail from Niagara Falls and their cards identified them as Eugene Casey, 1925 La-Salle Avenue, Niagara Falls and Robert E. Marshall, 1720 Whitney Avenue, Niagara Falls. Both are about 18 years of age and had been employed on a boat on the Great Lakes. They had identification cards from the Post Master of Buffalo harbor.

They confessed to the theft of the Buick automobile at Ashtabula, Ohio, and the owner of the machine is Fred Meyers, of 42nd street in the Ohio City. He has been communicated with.

Warren police were tipped off that the pair was coming into this city from the Atlantic Service station at Youngsville. The boys had pulled in there for gasoline and when the gas had been placed in the car tank they drove hurriedly away without making payment. Word was immediately telephoned to the State Police Barracks here but all the officers were out, and a call was made to the city police. Lieut. Evan took the call and with Mr. Alexander drove to the West End. Soon the Buick car came along.

It was jammed almost into the curb and ordered to stop, and seemingly was about to do so when suddenly it tore away and the chase through the city was on. It is fortunate indeed that no one was killed in a crash as the cars weaved in and out of traffic in a manner that made pedestrians hold their breath fearful of a collision.

A check-up on the two boys is being made by the officers as to their antecedents and records.

Police last night took statements from the two boys. Eugene Casey told police of his home life saying that his father had died about two weeks ago and his grandmother shortly before that. The two deaths in the family had shocked his mother so badly she is now convalescing in New York. His sister arrived in town today.

According to Casey the two boys left their home in Niagara Falls Monday on a bus bound for Cleveland where they had an idea they could secure jobs on a lake steamer. They spent Monday night in the bus terminal and Tuesday sought jobs. Unable to secure any work Monday and with all of their money spent they started to hitch hike out of Cleveland. On the outskirts of that city they stole a Ford car and drove to Geneva, Ohio where they abandoned the stolen car. They spent the night in Geneva.

Yesterday morning they saw the Buick car of Fred Meyers with keys in and taking it drove to Youngsville where they ran out of gas and stopped to get more. With no money they attempted to make a get-away. The boys had planned to go to a southern state where they had heard money was plentiful.

Marshall stated that he had been living with his grandmother as his parents were separated and he corroborated the story told by young Casey.

Police have notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation and they will send a U. S. Marshal or FBI agent to the city for the boys and they will be prosecuted under the Dyer Act which makes it a Federal offense to transport a stolen automobile from one state to another.

It is interesting to note that in the chase after the boys the one tire on the police car became so heated that it literally blew to pieces last night while an officer was patrolling in the car.

Plans were discussed for the afternoon and evening picnic to be held next Wednesday at the James Blomquist picnic spot at North Warren.

Statement Made On Strawberry Prices

The War Price and Rationing Board today issued the following statement regarding strawberry prices:

Strawberries sold by producer direct to consumer, the maximum price shall be 44c per quart (each quart to contain not less than 20 oz.).

Strawberries sold by the retailer, the maximum ceiling price is 51c per quart.

This will tend to clear up a misunderstanding that is now prevailing. In another issue of the Times-Mirror there was a mistake in strawberry prices. This is to correct that mistake.

Block Workers Meeting Fine Response in Their Work For Fifth War Loan Campaign

From reports being turned in daily by volunteer workers, it is evident that Block Workers are meeting with fine response on every hand as the Fifth War Loan campaign nears the end of its second week.

Complete figures of sales to date are not yet available, but it is believed at Warren County War Finance Committee headquarters that county citizens are rallying enthusiastically to meet the high quota assigned.

Block Workers are completing the house-to-house canvass in Warren and personal solicitation is also going on throughout the county. It is hoped that the resultant sales of Series "E" Bonds will more than meet the quota for this type of bond, which is $980,000—a big share of Warren county's $3,690,000 quota.

Sector leaders of the Block Worker service report a great many extra "Invasion" Bonds are being purchased from the volunteer workers and that there is a marked increase in the trend toward additional "E" Bonds.

Following is a list of the Sector Leaders, Post Leaders and Block Leaders who are canvassing Warren Borough homes. A list of county workers will be published in the Times-Mirror at a later date.

Weeds on vacant lots about town are coming in for attention. Many complaints are coming in to the police that certain lots are grown up with weeds much to the detriment of the appearance of the city. SAFE CANNING

Strawberries for canning are on the market. Cherries are ripening fast. The first early peas are being picked. All of which means the canning season has arrived for frugal housewives looking to the long winter months ahead, bringing with it the danger of accidents that always attends the process of preserving food by the cooking method.Four-fifths of last year's canning accidents, reports the National Safety Council, were the result of canning in the oven. Oven doors blew out, cans exploded, always causing trouble and sometimes serious accident.
It looks neat to stow cans in the oven, out of the way of meat-getting and other activities, but it is not a good way, especially for new canners.The only safe way is to follow directions of people who know how. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will send bulletins on home canning.
If these instructions are followed, canning will be safe.
If the housewife learned from mother or grandmother, and remembers every step of the process and does not skip any, she will be safe.Experienced canners of an older day learned by trial and error. Their usual method was by open kettle, hot pack, watching every detail. Modern pressure cookers are easier and safer, but also call for attention. Grandmother knew if she were careless she would lose her food, the time and trouble of preparing it, and might have sickness or death in the family besides. She took pains.Let the new canners can, by all means. But let them, too, be careful.

NICE GOING, MIKE!

To the tune of a shrieking siren office workers and shoppers had an opportunity to witness one of the most thrilling chases ever staged by a member of the Warren police department Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock, when Lieut. Mike Evan, accompanied by Howard Alexander, pursued a couple of New York state youths in a stolen car from Eddy street to the corner of East and Water at a rate of better than seventy miles an hour. The undaunted Evan and his volunteer passenger in the department Chevy refused to be outraced by the much speedier Buick, and succeeded in overtaking the car despite the heavy traffic at the time. It was a noteworthy display of the high degree of efficiency the local police department has attained, and incidentally, another warning to New York state lawbreakers to steer clear of Warren.

THE PACIFIC BATTLE

Latest reports from the Pacific indicate the Japanese fleet quite properly from its standpoint, may have evaded battle again.Rembert James, with the American fleet off Sapain, says the Japanese have maneuvered themselves out of the way, doing much to dampen yesterday's enthusiasm in naval circles which produced statements of exhilaration over prospects of a showdown.James, an A. P. correspondent, says Monday's long-distance air duels had provided the only action up to Wednesday.It is too early to be positive, but this would seem to eliminate the prospect of a battle in the area where it was originally expected, the Japanese either running away or maneuvering for a better spot. The former seems more likely.However, according to Admiral Nimitz, the carrier planes sunk one Japanese carrier, three tankers, and possibly a destroyer, and that all helps.The Struthers Wells Co., is proudly flying a new
excellence which was awarded them May 27th. No ceremonies are planned but the men have every reason to feel proud of the new award which recognizes their devotion to duty and the cause of winning the war by production.Looks like a bunch of American uniformed tourists will be sight-seeing in the French port of Cherbourg most any hour now.

French Land at Historic Elba

Napoleon spent first exile, 1814-15. Marina di Campo was wrecked by naval fire before troops landed and won firm grip on the island.COMMENTS FROM FARMERSAm returning the card you sent without filling it out. We could use help to make hay, but we all go out in the fields when we get our chores done and also our dairy business has to be taken care of everyday, so we couldn't take anybody in here from out of town. So thanks just the same, maybe we can get some help around here and if we can't we will do what we can and that is all we can do. We had good helpers—our boys that were raised on our farms and they took them away so all we want now is our boys back again.Wish to say that we were very pleased with the boys you sent us.We do not know how we would have got our potatoes picked if it had not been for the Boy Scouts you sent us. We hope that you will be able to send this same group again this year.We would like ten Boy Scouts on Saturday to trim berry bushes.
If it had not been for the help you sent, we would not have been able to get our hay in.It is interesting to see those city fellows pitching hay. Most of them do a good job, but their best pitching is done at the dinner table.

Flier Tells of Collision With A Big German Messerschmitt

Writing from an Eighth AAF bomber station in Europe, Lt. Dale J. Hanks, Warren High School graduate, gives a vivid description of a savage air battle over the Nazi capital that ended when a spinning Messerschmitt crashed into a Flying Fortress and he was obliged to bring his ship back to Britain on little more than the "wing and a prayer" of the modern song. He writes:

We knew it would be rough—Berlin always is—but we never thought it would be as bad as it finally turned out to be. From the moment we hit the enemy coast we were constantly harassed by barrages of flak.

Fighting and dodging the flak into the target seemed bad enough but we managed to get through. It was when we started on our bomb run over the target that hell broke loose around us. We thought we had run into a lot of flak up to this point, but we hadn't seen anything yet, as it came up in sheets.

And the flak not being enough, the Nazis decided to send up swarms of fighters. Messerschmitt 109's and Focke-Wulf 190's started to line up and cut through our formation as though it wasn't there at all. They kicked around in their own flak and desperately concentrated on trying to stop us. Twenty-five 190's and 109's came through our squadron alone, making passes from every conceivable angle. It was almost impossible to concentrate on any single one.

Their passes were so swift and varied that we no sooner would have one in our sights when he would be gone and others would attack from different directions.

The first pass didn't damage us much. It was the second concerted pass that brought us close to what we thought would be our doom. A plane in front of us bore down and headed smack into us. The pilot must have been killed by someone's fire for the plane was coming almost head-on at us. There was little time for decisions but I realized that the only thing to do was to lift my wing and perhaps he would slide under me.

I raised the wing with little hesitation, but there wasn't enough time. He collided with our tail assembly and practically tore the whole left side off.

The tail was practically of no use to us now. I had to fly as much as possible without it. The impact blow had temporarily knocked us out of formation and had also put the ship momentarily out of control.

Realizing that we couldn't continue as we were, we salvaged the bombs both to lighten load and to reduce the danger of having them add to our hazards.

It was during this fierce attack that a 20 mm. shell had pierced our number two gas tank and it was leaking badly. It seemed as though the dangers were increasing all the time. The oxygen system had been shot up, too, and rendered the whole system from the radio room back useless.

There was only one thing to do and that was to drop down to a lower element. At 16,000 feet the men did much better on the little oxygen we had left. Our number one engine had been hit, too, and had to be feathered so we were left with only three good engines. We had a wounded bombardier in addition.

We had gone through a running fight that lasted 30 minutes. We think we got some Nazis, but we are not quite sure.

Coming home we had to leave what was left of our formation and strike out alone from the coast. Somehow we managed to get to our base and make a landing. The stick wouldn't come back at all and it was almost impossible to get the tail down so that the might make a good landing. We brought it in and cut the power as soon as our front wheels hit the ground and thus gave the tail a chance to settle more or less by itself.

When we inspected the ship after landing we were amazed that it had brought us all the way back from over Berlin in such a condition. The body was riddled with flak, cannon and bullet holes. That tail sure was a mess.

STATE GRADUATES
Women outnumbered men for the first time as Penn State College conferred degrees on 341 graduates in its seventh wartime commencement today, but Warren county rated only one woman and two men among those receiving degrees. Roxanne M. Brooks, 6 Mill street, Sheffield, earned her bachelor of arts in journalism; Joseph G. Cannon, 24 Crescent Park and Reagan Houston, Fourth Avenue, both received their bachelor of science in chemical engineering.

Public Library Notes

The "Book Army Game" is growing in popularity every day at the Warren Public Library, with 20 recruits Tuesday morning at Lacy school when Miss Georgia Spinney made her weekly visit.

Already 29 boys and girls have earned their stripes in this new game. Jane Rogers, daughter of Army Chaplain Edward K. Rogers, was the first to qualify and is a seaman second class. Other girls who are seamen second class are Peggy Henderson, Pattie Burdick and Margaret Eaton. The WAVES seem to be the most popular branch of the service. Apprentice seaman are Joyce Spangler, Patricia Larsen, Patricia Hamm and Janice Dorsey. Dorothy Benson and Donna Mullins are sergeants in the Women's Marines and Betty Weidert and Nancy Logan are privates. Carole Weigel is a seaman second class in the SPARS and Mary Weaver is a corporal in the WAVES.

Among the boy recruits, James Johnson is a seaman second class in the navy and Wayne Hamm is an apprentice seaman. In the Air Corps, Karl Smith is a sergeant and James Valone, a corporal.

Alexander the Great was born in Europe, died in Asia, and was buried in Africa.

Warren Boy Escapes Hurts In Auto Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Miller, 1402 Pennsylvania avenue, east, have learned through a telephone call from their son, Dick, seaman first class at the Shelton, Wash., naval air base, that he was not injured in any way in a tragic happening which claimed the life of a buddy from Minnesota.

The boys had gone in to town to attend a movie and were on their way back when the lad from Minnesota was struck by an automobile and killed instantly. The car missed young Miller by about two feet but struck a girl companion of the other sailor and threw her a distance of ten feet or more into a ditch, sending her to the hospital with serious injuries.

The driver of the car, rounded up by State Police, is said by young Miller to have confessed to the officials that he "intended to kill them all". The case is expected to come up in court within a short time.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Outstanding books on needlework, presented in memory of Mrs. Wright are The Hooked Rug by William W. Kent; Quilts, Their Story and How to Make Them by Marie Webster; Square Knot, Tatting, Fringe and Needle Work by Beaulieu Graumont and John Hensel; Old Patchwork Quilts and The Women Who Made Them by Ruth E. Finley. These books reveal some of the secrets of the picturesque American folk arts and also interpret them in relation to the life of the times.

Literary works honoring Mrs. Wright's memory are The Poems of John Donne; Collected Poems, 1909-1935, by T. S. Eliot; The Treasury of British Humor, edited by Morris Bishop; Poems, 1924-1933, by Archibald MacLeish; The Poems of Rupert Brooke; The Collected Poems of A. E. Hausman; Literary England by Sherman and Wilcox; Behold, the Dreamer, edited by Walter de la Mare; and The Best One Act Plays of 1943, edited by Margaret Mayorga.

There are two excellent biographies in the Minnie Heermans Wright collection, Walter Rauschenbusch by Doris R. Sharpe and Under the Bridge by Ferris Greenslet. There is a book of art appreciation, Contemporary Art by Rosamund Frost and one of practice, I Wish I Could Draw by P. V. Bradshaw. Other books in the group are Ohio Indian Trails, a fine historical study by Frank W. Wilcox; the Bible for Every-day Reading, with its easy format; and the amusing best-seller by T. R. St. George, C/O Postmaster.

A work of national significance, presented in memory of William Ware Wright, is the set of public papers and addresses of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The five volumes include the most significant written and oral utterances of the Chief Executive during one of the most important periods of history.

Another book presented in Mr. Wright's memory is American Pewter by J. B. Kerfoot. It is rich in antique information and illustrated with photographs by the author of specimen in his own collection.

The Job is Bigger This Year

By H. A. Ludwick, member of County Emergency Farm Labor Committee

More food needed, with less help available to do the job on the farms.

The higher goals set for food production each year during the last three years underlines vividly the tremendous part food is playing in this war.

We hear of cut-backs in the production of some weapons of war, but there is no cut-back in food production. America's bountiful food supply, which was more than sufficient in peacetime, is now strained to the utmost to meet the ever-larger food needs of our country fighting a global war.

With the production of food slated for a new high this year, we find that the draft and war-work needs have left farmers short of experienced help. Make no mistake, we are headed for a real crisis on the farms this summer, and the only way that we can save the situation is by drawing on all the civilian help available to do the job.

For example, one of my neighbors have 40 acres of hay, 30 cows, 120 sheep and has been unable to secure any help. This is quite typical of most of the farmers in this neighborhood.

Prepare Victory Garden Defense By Learning to Spot Invaders

Like a good general, the Victory gardener who wishes to defeat invasion should do a job of scouting. He should know his enemies and organize defense before they actually attack his crops.

To destroy the enemy is not enough; he must protect his crops from injury, since once it is done it cannot be repaired. Your own experience is the best guide as to what insects may be expected in your garden; lacking experience, ask your neighbors.

The striped cucumber beetle seems widely established, and always able to search out plantings of cucumbers, melons and squash, no matter how small. He has a yellow body with three black stripes, and breeds in the growing end of the vine, eating the leaves and spreading disease. Some gardeners cover the infant vines with little boxes, topped with wire netting. Dusting new growth as rapidly as it develops with a mixture of calcium arsenate, 1 pound, with 10 pounds of talc or gypsum, is effective. Dusting should begin as soon as the plants appear, and continue until the vines are several feet long.

All members of the cabbage tribe, including cabbage, cauliflower, collards, kale, broccoli, kohlrabi and Chinese cabbage, are attacked by cabbage worms. These are pale green caterpillars, which grow to an inch and a quarter long, and eat holes in the leaves, finally devouring the plant. They are hatched from eggs laid by white butterflies, and as soon as these are seen flying about the garden, begin dusting with the same calcium arsenate and gypsum mixture used against cucumber beetles; or with rotenone.

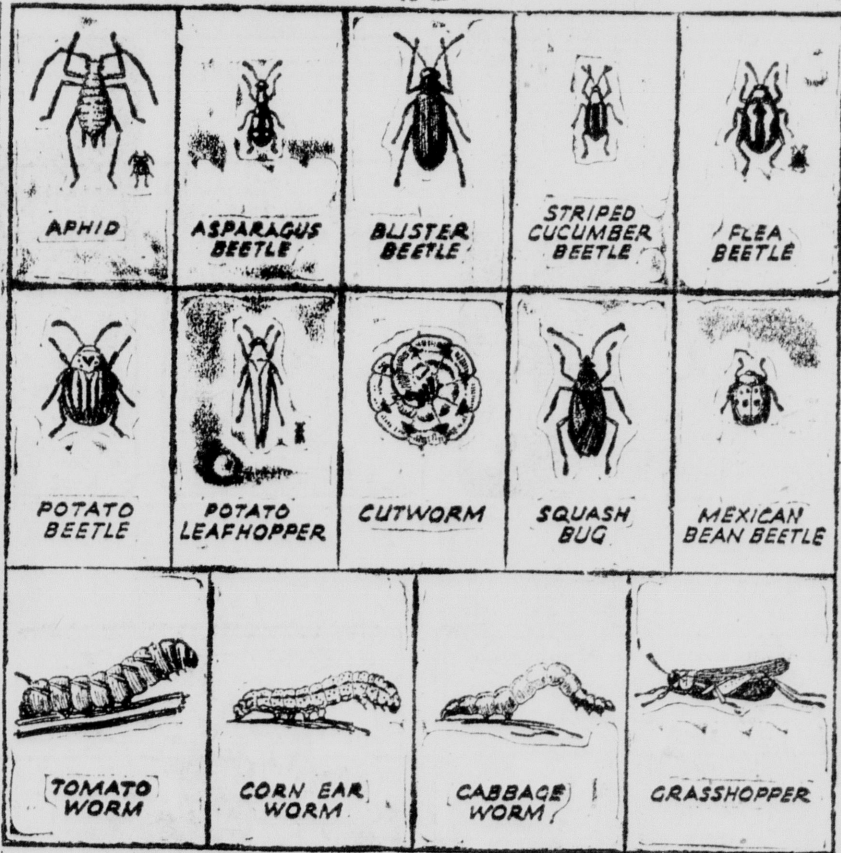

Aphids also attack the cabbages, and protection should begin as soon as the weather comes. They are likewise found on peas.

There are red, black and green aphids, but those on vegetables are usually pale green. They cling to the under side of leaves, or on the growing ends of stems of many vegetables, multiplying with amazing rapidity. Use rotenone, pyrethrum, or nicotine dust or spray, immediately first specimens are detected.

Asparagus beetles are blue-black with lemon spots, one-quarter inch long. Use rotenone dust or spray while harvest is on, and these or an arsenic dust or spray after the harvest.

Blister beetles are grey, striped or black, three-quarter inch long, prey on potato and tomato plants. Use rotenone or pyrethrum spray or dust, or calcium arsenate dust.

Flea beetles are small flea-like insects which attack cabbage, eggplant, potatoes, tomatoes, turnips and other vegetables, and riddle the leaves with small holes. Use reteneone or nicotine dust or spray.

The potato bug or Colorado beetle, which may also attack eggplant and tomatoes, is red with black stripes, half inch long. Spray or dust with rotenone or arsenic.

Potato leafhoppers are pale green, one-eighth inch long. Also found on beans, swarming on your approach to the plants, on which they cause leaf-curl. Nicotine or rotenone dust or spray will control.

Cutworms are caterpillars of various moths which hide by day and at night cut off young plants at the soil surface. Protect the plants with collars of heavy paper or cardboard surrounding the stems, extending an inch below the soil surface and two inches above, when the plants are set out.

Squash bugs are reddish brown to black, three-quarter inch long. They lay egg clusters on under side of leaves, and can be controlled by pyrethrum or rotenone spray or dust.

The Mexican bean beetle is a black sheep of the Lady Bug family. Coppery brown, 8 black spots on each wing cover; it eats vines and lays yellow egg clusters on under side of leaves, which hatch out into larvae with voracious appetites. Plants must be thoroughly sprayed or dusted with rotenone or arsenic.

Tomato worms are green caterpillars with conspicuous yellow markings, three to four inches long. The worm eats tomato leaves but is easily picked off, or killed by a rotenone or arsenic spray or dust.

The corn ear worm is a caterpillar two inches long, striped and marked green and brown, hatched from eggs laid on the young silk. Inject one-quarter teaspoonful of medical mineral oil in the silk channel of each ear soon after pollination.

Grasshoppers may attack all garden crops and are best controlled by using the poison bait.

Leaves should not be removed from pruned tomato plants, as the fruit ripens best when not exposed directly to the sun. Do not prune the small-vine plants, also known as determinate varieties.

In hot weather do not firm wet soil over wily sown seeds, as this will almost surely cause a crust to form, which will interfere with germination.

By stirring plant food into water and applying the mixture as a side dressing during a summer dry spell, immediate results are obtained. Use a cup of plant food to a bucket of water.

PUT THE V IN VICTORY WITH THE VTH WAR LOAN

"Sure, I know you're buying war bonds — lots of them, judging by the stuff they bought. But how about buying more than before?"

"What does a fifty-buck-a-month G. I. Joe know about war bonds? Only this:

"Millions of us are fighting — thousands of us are dying — to make War Bonds the best, the safest investment in the world. That goes with making the world better and safer for decent people."

"Buy War Bonds now, and it helps to keep prices down for our wives and kids and for you."

"And, in ten years, you get back four hard dollars for three soft dollars you invest now. So you're not only helping to win the war but the peace to come. For you're building future purchasing power. That means jobs for us when we get back. That means education for your kids, security and retirement funds for you."

Meadville Pioneers Booked at Wilder Field For Next Sunday

The Meadville Pioneers will be the opposition when National Forge trots out to endeavor to make it nine straight wins next Sunday when the two teams meet at Wilder Field. The Crawford county nine will come with the intention of being the first team to land the locals a defeat this summer. Lloyd Mullens is again managing the Pioneers and he can always be depended upon to have a good team on the field.

The Pioneers are one of the few teams in the district that has played the Forge about even. Meadville, under Mike Comavos, has taken two of three games from Forge, but it will be remembered that Forge made a clean sweep over Meadville in the league composed of Irvine, Corry, Meadville and Keystone. Last season Forge and Meadville split even in games played.

Gagliardi will probably pitch for Forge and a large crowd is expected.

Forge will play the Jamestown colored team on the State Hospital Field June 29th at six o'clock. July 2 Forge tackles Corry at Wilder Field at three o'clock. July 9th will find one of the best teams and probable challenger to Forge's title aspirations in the fast young Erie Bartenders, who are making a runaway of the Glenwood League in that city, playing such teams as the Erie Moose, North East and General Electric. In the past Erie Moose and North East have both held the Forge to 1-0 scores. Charlie Blowers, who has amassed ten consecutive wins and who formerly pitched in Warren, will probably face the locals.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, June 22.—(P)—Mel Ott has broken only three bats so far this season, and each time he picked out a new one and busted a homer with it. Carl Hubbard, the American League ump, claims this has been the toughest season the arbiters ever have had. "There are more close plays to call because they don't have those good infielders to throw out runners by a mile," he explains. "When a Pittsburgh scribe chided Leo Houck, Penn State's veteran boxing coach, for claiming he never had been knocked out in some 200 professional fights, Leo's only reply was a photo of the bout in question showing Houck and Billy Murray on their feet with the referee holding Murray's hand aloft.

"Does this look like I was knocked out?" Leo wrote. It doesn't, but Nat Fleischer's record book still lists it as a kayo victory for Murray.

A few more school and college baseball statistics: Duane Coots, of Canandaigua, N. Y., academy, pitched 53 of 56 innings in his team's eight 7-inning victories, allowed only nine runs and fanned 79. Roger Bowman of Wilbur H. Lynch High, Amsterdam, N. Y., gave only three runs in 57 innings, whiffed 116 and turned in two no-hit games. His worst game (he yielded four hits and two runs) was when Yankee Scout Johnny Haddock was in the stands. Penn State's Mike Wardop gave up just five earned runs in five victories.

Major Futility Record Seems Facing Cubs in Card Series

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs are headed for a major league futility record unless they do better in the next 11 games against St. Louis Cardinals than they did in the first 11. The Cubs have lost exactly 11 times. Their worst showing against any one team since 1902.

Manager Charlie Grimm used six pitchers and six pinch hitters against the Cards yesterday but lost 6-4 and 7-2. George Munger won his ninth against one defeat in the opener although he needed late help from Mort Cooper. Harry Breechen took his third straight from the Cubs in the finale. The double win increased the Cards' lead over Pittsburgh to eight and one half games, their biggest margin of the season.

The New York Giants drubbed Brooklyn 11-2 for their 18th triumph in the last 24 games to take third place in the National League. Bill Voiselle gained his ninth triumph, holding the Brooks to six hits. Mel Ott scored his 1,741 run to break his tie with Hans Wagner and set a new National League record.

After eight scoreless innings, Cincinnati scored in the ninth, but the Pittsburgh Pirates counted two in their half to take the game 2-1. Babe Dahlgren's single scored Tommy O'Brien with the winning run. Ray Starr held his former mates to seven hits for his second victory over Cincinnati since he was waived to the Pirates three weeks ago.

The Philadelphia Athletics made three in a row over Boston, 5-2.

as Dick Siebert drove in three runs with a double and single, and Jesse Flores outpitched Clem Hausman.

New York and Washington divided a double header, the champions taking the first 4-3, after trailing 1-5 until the seventh. The Nats took the second 6-4, with a five-run first inning at the expense of Southpaw Joe Page. Milo Candini held his former teammates to six hits to win his third game for the Senators.

The St. Louis Browns increased their American League lead to two and one-half games over Boston's Red Sox by trouncing the Chicago White Sox 11-2, behind Nelson Potter's seven-hit pitching. Gene Moore and Vernon Stephens led the attack on two Chicago hurlers with three hits each, including a homer apiece.

Rookie Paul O'Dea batter "four for four" as Cleveland defeated Detroit in a slugfest, 9-7. Rudy York and Mickey Rocco of the Indians blasted home runs.

The Boston-Philadelphia double header was postponed because of rain.

Chapter I

THE telephone in the hall cut sharply across the parlor. Gil moved to answer. They could hear his voice, low, then startled, and finally troubled.

When he came back his face was grave. "That was Ben," he said. "It's impossible for him to get back tonight. The inquest is delayed until next week. All lines between Ten Mile and Wood City are down. No communication possible. And the whole region is inundated. The Big Bridge on Burton Creek washed out an hour ago. And the water wall is over the levee!"

"You mean," Dirk said slowly, "that we're marooned in Candlewood?"

It rained all the rest of that long day, and all that night. It rained in such rushing torrents that Spring couldn't be sure if the hall outside her door creaked in the night or not. Once the candles in the hurricane lamps were snuffed out there was no light in Candlewood, for by Adelaide's decree every electric light bulb had been removed from the house. That was one of the questions Spring had wanted to ask Jo. Was Great Aunt Adelaide's explanation of the candles the real one, or was it something deeper, whimsy, or was it something deeper than that? Spring had expected to have the explanation of so many queer angles in Candlewood from Jo, but now their alienation had ended that hope.

Jo was down for coffee next morning. Everyone served himself for help was scarce in Candlewood. Josh had doubled for assistant cook and caretaker, but now there was only Theron, clumsy, morose and sniffling.

He came into the dining room now bearing the breakfast tray following the half hour she spent pattering in the small greenhouse that connected with her downstairs bedroom in the south wing.

"Has Gil eaten?" Spring asked. Drusilla looked up from her coffee cup with that vague, inattentive way of hers.

Dirk answered. "Yes. He and Moira have work at the shop. He said for us to come over this morning and he'd show us around."

THERE was a smothered little cry from the other side of the table. Jo stood up, white and indignant.

"How can you!" she demanded. "How can you go on as if nothing has happened?"

Dirk looked at Jo with pity. He said, "Jo, you hate Spring and me. But neither Spring nor I killed Elvan. Don't torture yourself this way. We didn't take him from you."

her cheeks pressed hard against her cheeks. Staring at Spring, she cried: "I hate you! I hate you! I hate you!" And then she ran out of the room.

Dirk and Spring sat together for a ican planes which bombed Berlin yesterday and flew on to Russia used an airbase at Pottava in the Ukraine, 1,500 miles from London. The Allies announced that some fighter planes escorting the Berlin bombers also flew to Russia.

Last night Berlin was attacked by speedy Mosquitos, while British Lancasters hit Ruhr and Rhineland objectives.

Close upon the Fortress-Liberator blow at the Pas-de-Calais area in the morning another great fleet roared out over the channel in the same direction this afternoon, stirring up a great barrage of anti-aircraft and rocket fire from the Germans' coastal defenses.

These attacks capped 24 hours of tremendous activity, including the U. S. Air Forces' shuttle raid from Britain to Russia.

A Moscow communique from the headquarters of the eastern command of the U. S. Strategic Air Force said three bombers and two escorting fighters were lost on the flight to Russian air bases.

Synthetic oil refineries and installations at Ruhland, southeast of Berlin, were bombed by a large force. Forty-six bombers were missing from the widespread British operations, which included mine-laying in enemy waters.

The German radio warned today that Allied planes were over Styria—perhaps indicating that American bombers from Italy were out.

The daylight raid against Berlin by a fleet of more than 1,000 U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 1,200 escorting fighters was the greatest of the war against the Reich capital. It was disclosed that some of the fighters, as well as some of the heavy bombers, made the shuttle flight between Britain and the Soviet Union.

Bricker Out After Votes Not Pledged

national committeeman and "draft Dewey" leader, arranged a similar conference 30 minutes later.

Bricker's backers claimed new support with J. Frank McDermott, Attica publisher, reporting the Ohioan would get 17 of Indiana's 29 votes.

An array of party leaders, including former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, predicted it would be Dewey in a breeze.

H. Alexander Smith, New Jersey GOP senatorial nominee, told a reporter he heard "serious proposals" that Bricker "make it unanimous" by taking the convention floor to suggest Dewey's nomination.

Told of this, A. N. Hoopingarner, a Bricker publicity director, laughed it off, while another said: "We think it should be the other way around—Dewey should nominate Bricker."

Child Revived After Falling Into Allegheny

Romaine Kondok, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kondok, RD 3, Starbrick, was brought to the Warren General hospital about 1:45 o'clock this afternoon for emergency treatment after she had fallen into the Allegheny river near her home, and appeared in a state of exhaustion from her drowning experience. She had almost recovered upon arrival and after examination by a physician was discharged.

When news was circulated that the child had fallen into the stream and had been rescued word was sent to the hospital that she was being taken there for treatment. The hospital in turn summoned the inhalator from the fire department, but fortunately it was not needed.

The incident suggests the importance of first notifying the fire department in such an emergency since time is the most important element in reviving persons rescued from the water.

The child stated that she accidentally fell into the stream while walking near the river's edge. How she was rescued was not learned.

Happy Time At Annual Picnic By Merchants

Retail merchants and their employees had a most enjoyable time yesterday afternoon and last evening when they held their annual picnic at Oakview Park. The gathering, staged to get the merchants more firmly cemented into one happy family, served that purpose 100%.

A softball game in the afternoon between Pettis and Woods resulted in a victory for the former, although efforts to locate an official score were to no avail. Both horseshoe courts were kept fully occupied until dark, swings were busy and even the teeter-totter was in frequent use.

Warren Stone, squadron leader for the Civil Air Patrol, requested time for announcement concerning resumption of the CAP Cadet recruiting program and asked the cooperation of the merchants in promoting this very worthwhile contribution to the war and defense effort.

Through a public address system provided by Irving F. Tetzel and his WJTN staff from Jamestown, this message was brought to the entire crowd as was the recording of a dictaphone account of a retail merchants' committee meeting which followed.

A singer was provided by the broadcasting station, also, as was recorded music throughout the afternoon and early evening.

At 6:30 a bountiful chicken dinner was served to 125 persons at two long tables in the open pavilion, with plenty of chicken, trimmings of all kinds, hot coffee served by A. P. Kottkamp and his assistant, Katherine Butterfield, and to top it all, apple pie and cheese. An efficient corps behind the steam tables kept the line moving right along and everyone was served while the viands were still steaming hot.

Committees worked hard to insure the success of the affair and their efforts were well worth the frequent commendations expressed by the picknickers. Heading the whole affair were George Frantz, Paul Braunschweiger and Frank Wood, with able assistance from these members of the retail merchants committee: Chairman Ben Kinnear, J. A. Blomquist, E. L. Stein, H. E. Pettit, W. H. Cannon, Louis Knecht. Public acknowledgement was made for the WJTN facilities and to W. A. Walker and Nat Drake for their contributions to the entertainment.

FOOD PRODUCTION!

What Does It Mean?
It means that as we progress in this war, take more prisoners, and capture more towns that we are going to have just that many more people to feed.

As Germany retreats with their scorched earth policy through the Balkans, the Netherlands, Norwegian Cumanay and all of France, we are going to have to stake those people to food until such time as crops may again be grown perhaps a year or a year and a half from now.

Should We Be Alarmed?
1. Due to a very high production last year, largely because of a bumper season, we had an abundance of food for our needs at that time, but a poor season can play havoc with this. We must produce even more than needed to

Waves of British and American Planes Sweep Area In Unprecedented Assault Lasting Eighty Minutes

DOUGHBOYS AWAITING ORDERS TO GO AHEAD

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces unlimbered this afternoon their greatest assault since the storming of the beaches of Normandy—a combined land and air attack intended to crack the last defenses of the fortified city of Cherbourg.

The attack began when waves of British and American planes swept in with a terrific aerial barrage lasting 80 minutes, a field dispatch from Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead reported.

Rocked back on their heels by the weight of this assault in which light and medium bombers dropped down to cannon-mouth level to drop their explosive charges, the Germans were immediately beset by a thunderous artillery pounding which left smoke and flame sweeping the German forts.

YANK RAIDERS AGAIN POUND ROCKET AREA

Fourth Bombing In Less Than 24 Hours Directed At Platforms in Pas-De-Calais Section

AFTER NIGHT ATTACKS

By GLADWYN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22—(AP)—Fleets of light and medium bombers carried out a crushing offensive in support of American troops hammering into Cherbourg today, while big forces of American heavy bombers, plowing through flak barrages, attacked Pas-de-Calais rocket bomb installations.

Marauders, Havocs and Thunderbolts swooped down to within 100 feet of German cannon to drive home the closest support yet given Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's Doughboys.

Artillery and Liberators gave the rocket launching grounds their fourth pounding in less than 24 hours.

The daylight blow followed a night of far-flung aerial attacks extending from France to Germany's industrial Ruhr and Berlin—dwarfing the Germans' cross-channel barrage of rocket bombs, which they asserted today are now coming over with incendiary loads.

The Germans also said, without Allied confirmation, that the American "striking advances" which gave the doughboys possession of the entire neck of the peninsula were credited in large part by the secretary to British and Canadian operations at the southeastern end of the Normandy front. The Allied forces there "so engaged the enemy that he had no uncommitted strength to threaten the American corridor."

These British and Canadian forces, Stimson told a news conference, not only repelled German counterattacks but drove forward to enlarge their own holdings.

ITALIANS ARE NEARING PRIZE ANCONA PORT

Unit Marching Up Adriatic Coast As Eighth Army Troops Drive Toward Camerino

WEATHER IS IMPROVING

By LYNN HEINZLERING

Rome, June 22—(AP)—Allied and Italian troops are within 32 miles of Ancona, prize Italian port on the Adriatic coast. While Eighth Army troops are approaching Camerino, approximately 35 miles east and a little north of Perugia, Allied headquarters announced today.

American forces to the west have pushed on 15 airline miles northwest of Grosseto. In all land operations, although weather has improved, misty conditions are preventing cross-country movements on a large scale, a communique said.

The advance toward Ancona, ranking next to Venice in port facilities in that coastal sector, was made by troops which have reached Fermo, only 65 airline miles below Rimini, the eastern anchor of the so-called Pisa-Florence-Rimini line, where the fleeing Germans may offer stiff resistance against the Allied drive.

Eighth Army troops have also approached Nocera Umbra, 14 miles west of Camerino. Limited gains were made north of the newly-taken ancient fortress city of Perugia, and in the Lake Trasimeno area west of Perugia, despite strong resistance.

Water Board Has Hearing At Franklin

Franklin, June 22—(AP)—Plans for cleaning up all streams in this section of the state were revealed today at a hearing before the State Sanitary Water Board.

Attended by about a hundred municipal officials, industrial representatives and delegates of sportsmen's organizations.

Due to an almost total absence of pollution in French Creek and the Allegheny river in this area, the hearing, at which Dr. A. H. Stewart, secretary of the state department of health presided, lasted less than two hours.

City officials explained how Franklin's sewage disposal plant in operation several years, had virtually cleared the Allegheny river of contamination below the city.

Members of Dr. Stewart's party planned to meet with oil producers at Oil City later today.

CELEBRATION AWAITS WEST MIFFLIN HERO

McKeesport, June 22—(AP)—Mrs. Mitchell Paige today counted off another day—the last—before her hero husband returns home after more than two years in the southwest Pacific.

But to Mrs. Paige, his return will mean a belated wedding anniversary celebration, the first for the couple since their marriage in 1941.

Fishermen Warned By Supreme Commander

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 22—(AP)—While fighting raged at Cherbourg, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made clear to the Germans today that they could not pay attention alone to the defense of that port.

In a radio warning the Allied commander-in-chief told the fishermen of Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France to stay in port until 9 p. m. Tuesday, June 29. This was the second seven-day extension of the original supreme command warning to fishermen.

"G. I." Bill Of Rights Signed By Roosevelt

Washington, June 22—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the "G. I. Bill of Rights" setting up a vast government aid program for veterans of this war.

With congressional leaders and heads of veterans' organizations looking on, the chief executive put his signature to the measure authorizing federal loans, hospitalization, job insurance, schooling and other ex-service benefits estimated to cost between $3,000,000,000 and $6,500,000,000.

The president said the bill carries out most of the recommendations he has made for veterans' aid and notifies the members of the Armed Forces that the people at home will not let them down.

Mr. Roosevelt used ten pens to sign the bulky bill, tapping each on his blotter and handing it over his shoulder to members of congress who witnessed the signature.

Designated the "G. I. bill of Rights" by the American Legion and other sponsors, the measure (Turn to Page Eleven)

War Bonds Sales In Area Increase

Philadelphia, June 21—(AP)—In the greatest 24-hour increase since the start of the Fifth War Loan drive, sales to individuals in Pennsylvania rose yesterday to bring total sales in that bracket to $89,127,803 or 20.16 per cent of the $442,000,000 quota.

G. R. Ruhland, chairman of the State War Finance committee, announced today.

Rebman said the state is ahead of the national average in the bond and individual sales.

Sales of Series E bonds rose to $50,553,075, or 22.7 per cent of the $224,000,000 quota. That category, Rebman said.

Sales in the Fort Pitt area, which includes 19 western Pennsylvania counties, rose to $13,880,400 or 18 per cent of its $71,168,000.

Youthful Auto Thieves Taken By Police After Thrilling Chase Through Busy Traffic

One of the most thrilling police chases that ever took place in the city occurred last evening about 4:30, when Lieut. Mike Evan, accompanied by Howard Alexander, gave chase to two youthful automobile thieves. The Buick car containing the two youths was intercepted near the Fairchild & Betts plant on Pennsylvania avenue, west. It pulled toward the curb and suddenly shot out at full speed, headed up the avenue. Evan, in the police car, gave chase and through red lights and the busy traffic, which at that hour of the afternoon is especially heavy, raced the Buick, with the police car in hot pursuit.

In an endeavor to clear traffic, the siren on the police car screamed loudly. At a speed of better than 70 miles an hour the cars tore up Pennsylvania avenue until at Market street the thieves turned into Water street. Traveling at such a high rate of speed, they were unable to make the curve at Water and East street. An automobile owned by Walter Kiser was rammed by the Buick and the rear stove in. The Buick sustained heavy damage on the front end.

Leaping from the car as the police cruiser screeched to a stop the lads ran down the dead end of East street. Confronted by the mill race, they did not hesitate, but leaped into the water. Swimming and wading in the water which is about five feet in depth they hurried to get across. Lieut. (Turn to Page Two)

Casualties Near Quarter Million Mark

Washington, June 22—(AP)—American battle casualties are nearing the quarter-million mark. Secretary Stimson reported today that army casualties through June 6 (which would include D-Day) totaled 178,677, an increase of 7,319 since his report on June 8, which covered the period through May 21. The army's dead now total 31,289, an increase of 2,337. The new announcement reports 71,432 wounded, 39,976 missing and 35,980 prisoners.

A navy casualty list announced today reports an overall figure of 46,705, an increase of 932 since a list published two weeks ago. Those killed total 29,044, an increase of 242. Wounded amount to 12,905, missing 9,295 and prisoners 4,461.

American army ground forces fighting in Italy since the landings last September suffered casualties totalling 64,992 through June 15. This was an increase of 2,991 since a report last week which covered the period through June 5. The dead in the Italian campaign now total 11,610, an increase of 507. Wounded are 44,426 and missing 8,956. In the same period, air forces in this theatre operating in Italy and in (Turn to Page Eleven)

Bricker Out After Votes Not Pledged

BULLETIN

Chicago, June 22—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio asserted flatly at a press conference today he would not withdraw his name from consideration for the Republican presidential nomination. He added he did not expect to be offered the vice presidential place on the ticket.

By JACK BELL

Chicago, June 22—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio came to Chicago today to take personal command of a last lap drive for a Republican presidential nomination many party leaders openly conceded to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The Ohioan hoped to spark a hotel lobby campaign for the support of nearly 500 delegates still unclaimed in many polls. The convention, opening Monday, has 1,057 delegates with 529 needed to nominate.

Arriving early, Bricker scheduled a 10:30 a. m. news conference. J. Russell Sprague, New York (Turn to Page Eleven)

Widow of Will Rogers Is Dead

Santa Monica, Calif., June 22—(AP)—Will Rogers' widow, whom he courted on a bicycle and whom he called "my first sweetheart," is dead.

Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, 65, succumbed at the Rogers ranch home in Santa Monica canyon last night. Relatives said she had been ill for several weeks, and that she suffered a severe attack of influenza in Washington, D. C., during the winter.

Rogers, whose crinkly smile and quick wit won him fame as a humorist and philosopher, was killed with Flier Wiley Post in an Alaska plane crash in 1935. A month ago today, his body was entombed at Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla., his home town. Mrs. Rogers' body likewise will be interred there.

Elusive Nipponese Fleet Refuses To Battle Americans

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Reports That In Sunday Engagement Enemy Lost 353 Planes In Addition to Carrier and Ships

NO EFFECTIVE COUNTER-ACTION IS OFFERED

By J. B. KRUEGER

Associated Press War Editor

American Pacific fleet planes staggered Japan's elusive fleet Monday in a surprise attack which cost the enemy one aircraft carrier and three other ships sunk and at least nine damaged, including a battleship.

The elusive enemy fleet, caught completely off base, offered no effective counteraction and fled from contact with the mighty U. S. Fifth Fleet hovering off the Marianas islands.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported also that in the Sunday air battle the enemy lost 353 planes instead of the previously-reported 300. This was an even greater air victory than that achieved by the American fleet at Midway two years ago.

The Midway battle still ranked first in this war's Pacific naval actions, however, followed in scope by the Guadalcanal battle in November 1942.

American plane losses in the Monday battle were 49.

The carrier sunk was listed by Nimitz as the Hayataka class. The battleship was of the Kongo class, 29,000 tons.

The enemy fleet included four or more battleships, five or six carriers, five fleet tankers and uncounted cruisers and destroyers.

That the enemy fleet was still avoiding battle as late as yesterday (U. S. time) was reported by AP Correspondent Rembert James, aboard the U. S. flagship off Saipan island.

James' dispatch, dated June 22 Saipan time (June 21 U. S. time) also disclosed that Aslito airstrip on the invaded island which lies only 1,500 miles from Tokyo and the Philippines has been made ready for operation. Navy Seabees have lengthened Aslito's 3,600 foot main runway.

James said that after nearly a week of complex naval racing in the vast stretches of ocean between the Marianas chain of islands and the Philippines the enemy fleet was still hanging back. This report tended to confirm impressions in Washington that Japan's navy unwittingly was caught off base and was as reluctant as ever to engage the U. S. Fifth Fleet.

Bitter ground fighting continued on Saipan as American marines and infantry advanced northward along Magdienne bay and tightened the noose around Japanese forces trapped on the island's southeastern tip. A curious feature of the land battling was the action of many Japanese civilians pouring through American lines (Turn to Page Eleven)

Assault On Soviet Airfield Claimed

London, June 22—(AP)—The German radio said today that German bomber formations had made a large scale attack against the Russian airfield at Poltava in the Ukraine—where the Germans had said American shuttle bombers were resting after their attack on Berlin from Britain yesterday.

"For about an hour several hundred heavy calibre high explosives and thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped on installation of this large Soviet airfield," said a DNB broadcast.

"Neither the report that U. S. air forces were based at Poltava nor the account of the attack was confirmed in Allied quarters. Poltava is about 550 miles northeast of Bucharest and 1,500 miles on a direct line from London.

Seaplane Tender Crew Sends Money to "Buy Off" Strikes

New York, June 22—(AP)—The Associated Press is in receipt of the following communication by registered airmail, marked as coming from the U. S. Coos Bay, a seaplane tender, and stamped "passed by naval censor":

REDS LAUNCH HARD DRIVES AGAINST FINNS

Masses of Men and Equipment Hurlled Into Offensive to Make Quick End of Hostilities

CABINET IN UPHEAVAL

London, June 22—(AP)—The Red Army hurled masses of men and equipment into two new drives on a broad front north of Lake Ladoga today in an effort to make a quick end of the war with Finland, already reported in the throes of government upheaval which may be the prelude to a bid for peace.

Launching of the drives was announced last night in a Moscow communique, which also disclosed that Soviet forces advancing from captured Viipuri on the Karelian isthmus south of Lake Ladoga were within 20 miles of the border fixed at the end of the 1939-40 Finnish-Russian war.

The new Russian offensives were launched on the third anniversary of the German invasion of the Soviet Union, and apparently were aimed at clearing the Murmansk-Leningrad railway of Finnish forces.

NYE EVIDENCE SOUGHT IN SEDITION TRIAL

Washington, June 22—(AP)—An attorney said in an affidavit on file in U. S. district court today that Senator Nye (R-ND.) made but failed to keep a promise to provide evidence for the defense in the mass sedition trial of 29 defendants accused of conspiring to undermine the morale of the armed forces.

Ira Chase Koehn, attorney for three of the defendants, filed the affidavit. He wants Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher to require Nye to produce papers he alleges are in the senator's possession.

The trial proceeded today with the reading of scores of government exhibits, mostly articles from the newspapers of the German-American bund.

Evan pulled his revolver and ordered the boys to "turn back". He fired three shots over their heads and they finally waded back to shore and surrendered.

Taken to the police station the boys were stripped and placed in cells. Dry clothing from a duffle bag carried by one boy and a suit case carried by the other were given them. As soon as they were dressed in dry clothing they settled down in their cells and soon announced they were hungry. A meal was given them from the McCabe Restaurant.

Statements were taken during the evening from both lads and from their wallets a score or more girls pictures were taken along with their social security and other cards.

Both boys hail from Niagara Falls and their cards identified them as Eugene Casey, 1925 La-Salle Avenue, Niagara Falls and Robert E. Marshall, 1720 Whitney Avenue, Niagara Falls. Both are about 18 years of age and had been employed on a boat on the Great Lakes. They had identification cards from the Post Master of Buffalo harbor.

They confessed to the theft of the Buick automobile at Ashtabula, Ohio, and the owner of the machine is Fred Meyers, of 42nd street in the Ohio City. He has been communicated with.

Warren police were tipped off that the pair was coming into this city from the Atlantic Service station at Youngsville. The boys had pulled in there for gasoline and when the gas had been placed in the car tank they drove hurriedly away without making payment. Word was immediately telephoned to the State Police Barracks here but all the officers were out, and a call was made to the city police. Lieut Evan took the call and with Mr. Alexander drove to the West End. Soon the Buick car came along.

It was jammed almost into the curb and ordered to stop, and seemingly was about to do so when suddenly it tore away and the chase through the city was on. It is fortunate indeed that no one was killed in a crash as the cars weaved in and out of traffic in a manner that made pedestrians hold their breath fearful of a collision.

A check-up on the two boys is being made by the officers as to their antecedents and records.

Police last night took statements from the two boys. Eugene Casey told police of his home life saying that his father had died about two weeks ago and his grandmother shortly before that. The two deaths in the family had shocked his mother so badly she is now convalescing in New York. His sister arrived in town today.

According to Casey the two boys left their home in Niagara Falls Monday on a bus bound for Cleveland where they had an idea they could secure jobs on a lake steamer. They spent Monday night in the bus terminal and Tuesday sought jobs. Unable to secure any work Monday and with all of their money spent they started to hitch hike out of Cleveland. On the outskirts of that city they stole a Ford car and drove to Geneva, Ohio where they abandoned the stolen car. They spent the night in Geneva.

Yesterday morning they saw the Buick car of Fred Meyers with keys in it and taking it drove to Youngsville where they ran out of gas and stopped to get more. With no money they attempted to make a get-away. The boys had planned to go to a southern state where they had heard money was plentiful.

Marshall stated that he had been living with his grandmother as his parents were separated and he corroborated the story told by young Casey.

Police have notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation and they will send a U. S. Marshal or FBI agent to the city for the boys and they will be prosecuted under the Dyer Act which makes it a Federal offense to transport a stolen automobile from one state to another.

It is interesting to note that in the chase after the boys the one tire on the police car became so heated that it literally blew to pieces last night while an officer was patrolling in the car.

James Senger, chief petty officer in the United States Navy, was guest speaker at Wednesday's luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Carver, telling some of his experiences during three years of service in the medical division and particularly in the Pacific area.

Rev. Harold Knappenberger, chairman of the education committee, extended the official welcome to two new members, Arnold W. Brown and Robert H. Alexander. Vincent P. Kramer, of Salem, Mass., personnel man for Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., was a guest at the meeting.

Plans were discussed for the afternoon and evening picnic to be held next Wednesday at the James Blomquist picnic spot at North Warren.

Statement Made On Strawberry Prices

The War Price and Rationing Board today issued the following statement regarding strawberry prices:

Strawberries sold by producer direct to consumer, the maximum price shall be 44c per quart (each quart to contain not less than 20 oz.)

Strawberries sold by the retailer, the maximum ceiling price is 51c per quart.

This will tend to clear up a misunderstanding that is now prevailing. In another issue of the Times-Mirror there was a mistake in strawberry prices. This is to correct that mistake.

Block Workers Meeting Fine Response in Their Work For Fifth War Loan Campaign

From reports being turned in daily by volunteer workers, it is evident that Block Workers are meeting with fine response on every hand as the Fifth War Loan campaign nears the end of its second week.

Complete figures of sales to date are not yet available, but it is believed at Warren County War Finance Committee headquarters that county citizens are rallying enthusiastically to meet the high quota assigned.

Block Workers are completing the house-to-house canvass in Warren and personal solicitation is also going on throughout the county. It is hoped that the resultant sales of Series "E" Bonds will more than meet the quota for this type of bond, which is $980,000—a big share of Warren county's $3,690,000 quota.

Sector leaders of the Block Worker service report a great many extra "Invasion" Bonds are being purchased from the volunteer workers and that there is a marked increase in the trend toward additional "E" Bonds.

Following is a list of the Sector Leaders, Post Leaders and Block Leaders who are canvassing Warren Borough homes. A list of county workers will be published in the Times-Mirror at a later date.

SAFE CANNING

Strawberries for canning are on the market. Cherries are ripening fast. The first early peas are being picked. All of which means the canning season has arrived for frugal housewives looking to the long winter months ahead, bringing with it the danger of accidents that always attends the process of preserving food by the cooking method.

Four-fifths of last year's canning accidents, reports the National Safety Council, were the result of canning in the oven. Oven doors blew out, cans exploded, always causing trouble and sometimes serious accident. It looks neat to stow cans in the oven, out of the way of meat-getting and other activities, but it is not a good way, especially for new canners.

The only safe way is to follow directions of people who know how. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will send bulletins on home canning. If these instructions are followed, canning will be safe. If the housewife learned from mother or grandmother, and remembers every step of the process and does not skip any, she will be safe.

Experienced canners of an older day learned by trial and error. Their usual method was by open kettle, hot pack, watching every detail. Modern pressure cookers are easier and safer, but also call for attention. Grandmother knew if she were careless she would lose her food, the time and trouble of preparing it, and might have sickness or death in the family besides. She took pains.

Let the new canners can, by all means. But let them, too, be careful.

NICE GOING, MIKE!

To the tune of a shrieking siren office workers and shoppers had an opportunity to witness one of the most thrilling chases ever staged by a member of the Warren police department Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock, when Lieut. Mike Evan, accompanied by Howard Alexander, pursued a couple of New York state youths in a stolen car from Eddy street to the corner of East and Water at a rate of better than seventy miles an hour. The undaunted Evan and his volunteer passenger in the department Chevy refused to be outraced by the much speedier Buick, and succeeded in overtaking the car despite the heavy traffic at the time. It was a noteworthy display of the high degree of efficiency the local police department has attained, and incidentally, another warning to New York state lawbreakers to steer clear of Warren.

THE PACIFIC BATTLE

Latest reports from the Pacific indicate the Japanese fleet quite properly from its standpoint, may have evaded battle again.

Rembert James, with the American fleet off Sapain, says the Japanese have maneuvered themselves out of the way, doing much to dampen yesterday's enthusiasm in naval circles which produced statements of exhilaration over prospects of a showdown.

James, an A. P. correspondent, says Monday's long-distance air duels had provided the only action up to Wednesday.

It is too early to be positive, but this would seem to eliminate the prospect of a battle in the area where it was originally expected, the Japanese either running away or maneuvering for a better spot. The former seems more likely.

However, according to Admiral Nimitz, the carrier planes sunk one Japanese carrier, three tankers, and possibly a destroyer, and that all helps.

The Struthers Wells Co., is proudly flying a new Navy "E" flag with the additional star for continued excellence which was awarded them May 27th. No ceremonies are planned but the men have every reason to feel proud of the new award which recognizes their devotion to duty and the cause of winning the war by production.

Looks like a bunch of American uniformed tourists will be sight-seeing in the French port of Cherbourg most any hour now.

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

LOUISVILLE—Among the inland cities I have visited there are few better examples of what has happened to communities in a nation at war than here. Although Kentucky itself is supposed to have lost about ten per cent of its population to the armed services and other industrial centers, Louisville is more jammed and teeming than on Derby Day.

Its nearby military installations alone are impressive. There's Fort Knox, where more than 35,000 soldiers still are in training. There's Camp Campbell, where the armored divisions are turned out. There's the big infantry school at Camp Breckinridge.

AND there's Bowman Field, the troop carrier command school, whose thousands of airborne troops and glider pilots have made history behind the Jap lines in Burma and more recently back of Hitler's coastal defenses in Normandy. Among the latter is Col. "Mike" Murphy, one of the Army's most famous glider pilots and instructors, whose part in the Normandy landings already has made page one headlines here.

Included in Bowman's claim to fame is the air evacuation school of the Medical Corps where hundreds of Army nurses and other personnel have been taught that amazing technique of evacuating wounded by plane.

Bowman is virtually Louisville's back yard—so much so in fact that in one day not so long ago three training planes made forced landings in the residential district within a radius of a few blocks—all fortunately without injuring any civilian personnel or doing any great property damage. "We are proud of Bowman," said one suburbanite whose back door looks out on the field, "but sometimes, it gets a little trying. Often the planes taking off and landing are flying so low that I have to open the upstairs windows to let them go through."

ADD to this concentration of armed services, the "camp followers," the wives and families of the men who are more or less permanently stationed here, and the thousands of others who flock in for visits and you will understand how the heart of the blue grass has become the heart of a nation at war.

Louisville officials estimate that 40,000 members of the armed forces descend on the city every week-end and watching the queues that string out for blocks as the men stand for often as much as six to eight hours waiting to get buses back to camp on Sunday evening, it's easy to believe.

One little known phase of Louisville's military personnel is the presence of so many of the Coast Guard who concentrate here to take the "Elsie" boats (landing craft) down the Ohio and Mississippi to the Gulf.

COMMENTS FROM FARMERS

Am returning the card you sent without filling it out. We could use help to make hay, but we all go out in the fields when we get our chores done and also our dairy business has to be taken care of everyday, so we couldn't take anybody in here from out of town. So thanks just the same, maybe we can get some help around here and if we can't we will do what we can and that is all we can do. We had good helpers—our boys that were raised on our farms and they took them away so, all we want now is our boys back again.

Wish to say that we were very pleased with the boys you sent us.

We do not know how we would have got our potatoes picked if it had not been for the Boy Scouts you sent us. We hope that you will be able to send this same group again this year.

We would like ten Boy Scouts on Saturday to trim berry bushes. If it had not been for the help you sent, we would not have been able to get our hay in.

It is interesting to see those city fellows pitching hay. Most of them do a good job, but their best pitching is done at the dinner table.

Flier Tells of Collision With A Big German Messerschmitt

Writing from an Eighth AAF bomber station in Europe, Lt. Dale J. Hanks, Warren High School graduate, gives a vivid description of a savage air battle over the Nazi capital that ended when a spinning Messerschmitt crashed into a Flying Fortress and he was obliged to bring his ship back to Britain on little more than the "wing and a prayer" of the modern song. He writes:

We knew it would be rough—Berlin always is—but we never thought it would be as bad as it finally turned out to be. From the moment we hit the enemy coast we were constantly harassed by barrages of flak.

Fighting and dodging the flak into the target seemed bad enough but we managed to get through. It was when we started on our bomb run over the target that hell broke loose around us. We thought we had run into a lot of flak up to this point, but we hadn't seen anything yet, as it came up in sheets.

And the flak not being enough, the Nazis decided to send up swarms of fighters. Messerschmitt 109's and Focke-Wulf 190's started to line up and cut through our formation as though it were there at all. They kicked around in their own flak and desperately concentrated on trying to stop us. Twenty-five 190's and 109's came through our squadron alone, making passes from every conceivable angle. It was almost impossible to concentrate on any single one.

Their passes were so swift and varied that we no sooner would have one in our sights when he would be gone and others would attack from different directions.

The first pass didn't damage us much. It was the second concentrated pass that brought us close to what we thought would be our doom. A plane in front of us bore down and headed smack into us. The pilot must have been killed by someone's fire for the plane was coming almost head-on at us. There was little time for decisions but I realized that the only thing to do was to lift my wing and perhaps he would slide under me.

I raised the wing with little hesitation, but there wasn't enough time. He collided with our tail assembly and practically tore the whole left side off.

The tail was practically of no use to us now. I had to fly as

Warren Boy Escapes Hurts In Auto Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Miller, 1402 Pennsylvania avenue, east, have learned through a telephone call from their son, Dick, seaman first class at the Shelton, Wash., naval air base, that he was not injured in any way in a tragic happening which claimed the life of a buddy from Minnesota.

The boys had gone in to town to attend a movie and were on their way back when the lad from Minnesota was struck by an automobile and killed instantly. The car missed young Miller by about two feet but struck a girl companion of the other sailor and threw her a distance of ten feet or more into a ditch, sending her to the hospital with serious injuries.

The driver of the car, rounded up by State Police, is said by young Miller to have confessed to the officials that he "intended to kill them all". The case is expected to come up in court within a short time.

Response To Local Young People's Party To Determine Future Activities

Young people of Warren are hoping for the gift of good weather tomorrow evening for their first community game and dance night at Beatty school. But Nick Geracimos and Dick McCarthy have a five piece orchestra lined up for dancing, whether it is inside or out.

The novelty of outdoor dancing seems to have a strong appeal and the court will be conditioned so it can be used throughout the summer for the series of community parties for young people.

There will be no admission fee to the party, which starts off at eight o'clock, with games in the gym. Badminton courts and ping pong tables have been set up to accommodate a large group of players. There will also be shuffle board and group games under the direction of Homer Fleming, assisted by the young people.

The atmosphere will be informal and the decorating committee, headed by Leland Daye, expects to spend most of the day tomorrow getting the gym and court decorated and arranged. Over 35 young people have assisted with the plans for this first young people's community night. Other parties will be conducted in a similar style with adult assistance.

Out of school young people are welcoming the opportunity of using the gym and court. Joan Wellner, Allegheny College student and a supervisor on the Warren playgrounds last summer, is one of the out of school young people on this week's committee. Dorothy Ann Harris, of the Cadet Nurse Training Corps, home on a vacation from Jefferson Hospital, is also helping make this party a success.

The games will continue through the evening in the gym and there will be dancing inside or out from 7:30 to 11:30. Everyone between the ages of 14 and 21 is welcome. The response tomorrow night from the young people of Warren, who have been asking for something to do and some place to go, will help determine future activities.

Pop Concert By Struthers Wells Band Is Much Enjoyed

At least 1000 people heard travel, free concerts of this nature, either all, or part, of the excellent concert given by the Struthers Wells Navy Band, on the lawn of the municipal building last night.

The musicians presented a varied program of music, of the kind the average person can enjoy, and they really did enjoy it, as was evidenced by the applause.

The program was well balanced, and consisted of several snappy marches, a number from the Peer Gynt Suite, some Waltzes and song medleys.

The band is under the direction of Fred Emhart, who conducted last night's concert with great credit to himself and his musicians.

The weatherman obliged with a beautiful evening, and the setting could not have been nicer. The bandmen in their colorful Navy Blue uniforms, with the beautiful colonial City Hall for a background, made an attractive picture.

This was truly a POPular concert, and in these days of limited

The Job is Bigger This Year

More food needed, with less help available to do the job on the farms.

The higher goals set for food production each year during the last three years underlines vividly the tremendous part food is playing in this war.

We hear of cut-backs in the production of some weapons of war, it there is no cut-back in food production. America's bountiful food supply, which was more than sufficient in peacetime, is now strained to the utmost to meet the food needs of our country

With the production of food slated for a new high this year, we find that the draft and war-work needs have left farmers short of experienced help. Make no mistake, we are headed for a real crisis on the farms this summer, and the only way that we can save the situation is by drawing on all the civilian help available to do the job.

For example, one of my neighbors have 40 acres of hay, 20 cows, 120 sheep and has been unable to secure any help. This is quite typical of most of the farmers in this neighborhood.

Prepare Victory Garden Defense By Learning to Spot Invaders

Like a good general, the Victory gardener who wishes to defeat invasion should do a job of scouting. He should know his enemies and organize defense before they actually attack his crops.

To destroy the enemy is not enough; he must protect his crops from injury, since once it is done it cannot be repaired. Your own experience is the best guide as to what insects may be expected in your garden; lacking experience, ask your neighbors.

The striped cucumber beetle seems widely established, and always able to search out plantings of cucumbers, melons and squash, no matter how small. He has a yellow body with three black stripes, and breeds in the growing end of the vine, eating the leaves and spreading disease. Some gardeners cover the infant vines with little boxes, topped with wire netting. Dusting new growth as rapidly as it develops with a mixture of calcium arsenate, 1 pound, with 10 pounds of talc or gypsum, is effective. Dusting should begin as soon as the plants appear, and continue until the vines are several feet long.

All members of the cabbage tribe, including cabbage, cauliflower, collards, kale, broccoli, kohlrabi and Chinese cabbage, are attacked by cabbage worms. These are pale green caterpillars, which grow to an inch and a quarter long, and eat holes in the leaves, finally devouring the plant. They are hatched from eggs laid by white butterflies; and as soon as they are seen flying about the garden, begin dusting with the same calcium arsenate and gypsum mixture used against cucumber beetles; or with rotenone.

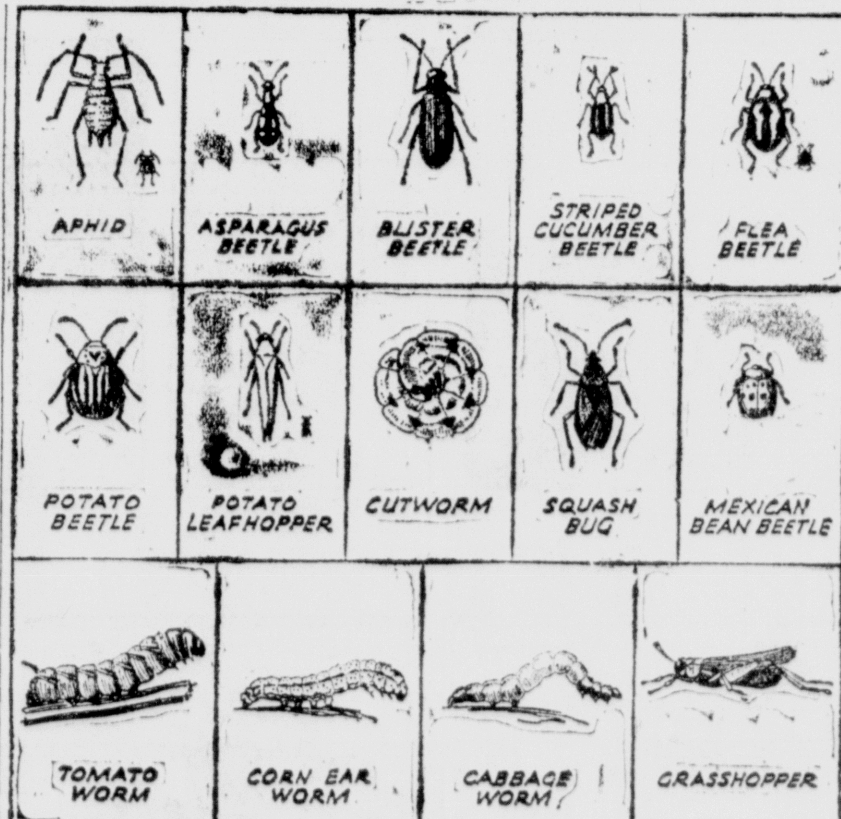

Aphids also attack the cabbages, and protection should begin as soon as hot weather comes. They are likewise found on peas.

There are red, black and green aphids, but those on vegetables are usually pale green. They cling to the under side of leaves, or on the growing ends of stems of many vegetables, multiplying with amazing rapidity. Use rotenone, pyrethrum, or nicotine dust or spray, immediately first specimens are detected.

Asparagus beetles are blue-black with lemon spots, one-quarter inch long. Use rotenone dust or spray while harvest is on, and these or an arsenic dust or spray after the harvest.

Blister beetles are grey, striped or black, three-quarter inch long, prey on potato and tomato plants. Use rotenone or pyrethrum spray or dust, or calcium arsenate dust.

Flea beetles are small flea-like insects which attack cabbage, eggplant, potatoes, tomatoes, turnips and other vegetables, and riddle the leaves with small holes. Use rotenone or nicotine dust or spray.

The potato bug or Colorado beetle, which may also attack eggplant and tomatoes, is red with black stripes, half inch long. Spray or dust with rotenone or arsenic.

Potato leafhoppers are pale green, one-eighth inch long. Also found on beans, swarming on your approach to the plants, on which they cause leaf-curl. Nicotine or rotenone dust or spray will control.

Cutworms are caterpillars of various moths which hide by day and at night on the soil surface, with collars of heavy paper or cardboard surrounding the stems, extending an inch below the soil surface and two inches above, when the plants are set out.

Squash bugs are reddish brown to black, three-quarter inch long. They lay egg clusters on under side of leaves, and can be controlled by pyrethrum or rotenone spray or dust.

The Mexican bean beetle is a black sheep of the Lady Bug family. Coppery brown, 8 black spots on each wing cover; it eats vines and lays yellow egg clusters on under side of leaves, which hatch out into larvae with voracious appetites. Plants must be thoroughly sprayed or dusted with rotenone or arsenic.

By stirring plant food into water, applying the mixture as a side dressing during a summer dry spell, immediate results are obtained. Use a cup of plant food to a bucket of water.

Major Futility Record Seems Facing Cubs in Card Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs are headed for a major league futility record unless they do better in the next 11 games against St. Louis Cardinals than they did in the first 11. The Cubs have lost exactly 11 times. Their worst showing against any team since 1902.

Manager Charlie Grimm used six pitchers and six pinch hitters against the Cards yesterday but lost 6-4 and 7-2. George Munger won his ninth against one defeat in the opener although he needed late help from Mort Cooper. Harry Brecheen took his third straight from the Cubs in the finale. The double win increased the Cards' lead over Pittsburgh to eight and one half games, their biggest margin of the season.

The New York Giants drubbed Brooklyn 11-2 for their 18th triumph in the last 24 games to take third place in the National League. Bill Voiselle gained his ninth triumph holding the Brooks to six hits. Mel Ott scored his 1,741 run to break his tie with Hans Wagner and set a new National League record.

After eight scoreless innings, Cincinnati scored in the ninth, but the Pittsburgh Pirates counted two in their half to take the game 2-1. Babe Dahlgren's single scored Tommy O'Brien with the winning run. Ray Starr held his former mates to seven hits for his second victory over Cincinnati since he was waived to the Pirates three weeks ago.

The Philadelphia Athletics made three in a row over Boston, 5-2.

Meadville Pioneers Booked at Wilder Field For Next Sunday

The Meadville Pioneers will be the opposition when National Forge trots out to endeavor to make it nine straight wins next Sunday when the two teams meet at Wilder Field. The Crawford county nine will come with the intention of being the first team to hand the locals a defeat this summer. Lloyd Mullens is again managing the Pioneers and he can always be depended upon to have a good team on the field.

The Pioneers are one of the few teams in the district that has played the Forge about even. Meadville, under Mike Comavos, has taken two of three games from Forge, but it will be remembered that Forge made a clean sweep over Meadville in the league composed of Irvine, Corry, Meadville and Keystone. Last season Forge and Meadville split even in games played.

Gagliardi will probably pitch for Forge and a large crowd is expected. Forge will play the Jamestown colored team on the State Hospital Field June 29th at six o'clock. July 2 Forge tackles Corry at Wilder Field at three o'clock. July 9th will find one of the best teams and probable challenger to Forge's title aspirations in the fast young Erie Bartenders, who are making a runaway of the Glenwood League in that city, playing such teams as the Erie Moose, North East and General Electric. In the past Erie Moose and North East have both held the Forge to 1-0 scores. Charlie Blowers, who has amassed ten consecutive wins and who formerly pitched in Warren, will probably face the locals.

Chic Georgia Takes Year to Regain Swing

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Chicago, June 22—(AP)—One of the contenders in the Women's Western Open, which entered the quarterfinal stage today, was 21-year-old Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D.—A chic Miss who says it has taken a year to find her lost swing.

"You know how it is, you develop some quirk and it takes a year or so to shake it off," she said after whalloping a practice shot 225 yards. "I really feel my game is as good now as it was in the winter of 1941-1942 when I won four of eight tournaments I entered down in Florida and Cuba."

The Rollins, Fla., college student went out today against one of the tournament's prime favorites, 20-year-old Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, 1943 western amateur and runner-up for medalist honors in this meet.

Miss Germain won the last two holes of her second round match yesterday against Mrs. Joanne Barr Tracy of Dallas, Tex., for a close 2-up victory after shooting her poorest golf of the tournament. She required 83 strokes, eight over par.

Corry Defeats Struthers By 7 to 1 Score

The game between the Struthers Wells and Corry Merchants at the State Hospital last evening provided some excellent entertainment for the large crowd on hand. The score was 7 to 1, the locals escaping a shutout by showing over a score in the eighth when Bonavita scored on Jewell's single after Mariett had been forced at second on a fielder's choice. Corry scored one in the fourth, and three each in the sixth and ninth.

Rose was on the mound for the Struthers Wells with Mariett behind the plate, the battery holding the visitors to four hits. Struthers managed to connect safely five times off the hurling of Black.

Saturday the Struthers Wells will meet the Hope Windows, of Jamestown, on the State Hospital diamond.

The score by innings:

Inning	R	H	E
Corry	000	103	003-7
Struthers	000	000	010-1

PONY LEAGUE

Buffalo, N. Y., June 22—(AP)—A PONY LEAGUE Batavia-Bradford battle, which went scoreless for 12 innings, became a 1-0 victory for the Clippers in a photo-finish at home plate in the 15th frame.

Batavia manager Jack Tighe opened the last inning with a single to right field, went to second on a sacrifice by Rothel, and scored on a single by Pitcher Palmisano. The play was so close at home plate a dispute arose, but the umpire found for the Clippers.

The Jamestown Falcons downed Horrell 8-1. Pitcher Lyle Bliss kept the Pirates well in hand except for the sixth inning, when they punched three singles to score.

The Wellsville Yankees in a free-hitting ball game pounded out a 12-9 win over Erie. The league-leading Lockport Cubs took a 6-3 decision over Olean.

Today's games: Batavia at Bradford; Horrell at Jamestown; Olean at Lockport; Erie at Wellsville.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, June 22—(AP)—Mel Ott has broken only three bats so far this season, and each time he picked out a new one and bused a homer with it. Carl Hubbard, the American League ump, claims this has been the toughest season the arbiters ever have had. "There are more close plays to call because they don't have those good infielders to throw out runners by a mile," he explains. When a Pittsburgh scribe chided Leo Houck, Penn State's veteran boxing coach, for claiming he never had been knocked out in some 200 professional fights, Leo's only reply was a photo of the bout in question showing Houck and Billy Murray on their feet with the referee holding Murray's hand aloft.

"Does this look like I was knocked out?" Leo wrote. It doesn't, but Nat Fleischer's record book still lists it as a kayo victory for Murray.

Pitcher's Year

A few more school and college baseball statistics: Duane Coats, of Canandaigua, N. Y., academy, pitched 53 of 56 innings in his team's eight 7-inning victories, allowed only nine runs and fanned 79. Roger Bowman of Wilbur H. Lynch High, Amsterdam, N. Y., gave only three runs in 57 innings, whiffed 116 and turned in two no-hit games. His worst game (he yielded four hits and two runs) was when Yankee Scout Johnny Haddock was in the stands. Penn State's Mike Wardop gave up just five earned runs in five victories.

Chapter I

THE telephone in the hall cut sharply across the parlor. Gil moved to answer. They could hear his voice, low, then startled, and finally troubled.

When he came back his face was grave. "That was Ben," he said. "It's impossible for him to get back tonight. The inquest is delayed until next week. All lines between Ten Mile and Wood City are down. No communication possible. And the whole region is inundated. The Big Bridge on Burton Creek washed out an hour ago. And the water wall is over the levee!"

"You mean," Dirk said slowly, "that we're marooned in Candlewood?"

It rained all the rest of that long day, and all that night. It rained in such rushing torrents that Spring couldn't be sure if the hall outside her door created in the night or not. Once the candle in the hurricane lamps were snuffed out there was no light in Candlewood, for by Adelaide's decree every electric light bulb had been removed from the house.

That was one of the questions Spring had wanted to ask Jo. Was Great Aunt Adelaide's explanation of the candles the real one, was it simply an old woman's whim, or was it something deeper than that? Spring had expected to have the explanation of so many queer angles in Candlewood from Jo, but now their alienation had ended that hope.

Jo was down for coffee next morning. Everyone served himself for help was scarce in Candlewood. Josh had doubled for assistant cook and caretaker, but now there was only Theron, clumsy, morose and shiftless.

He came into the dining room now, bearing the breakfast tray from Great Aunt Adelaide's room, following the half hour she spent putting in the small greenhouse that connected with her downstairs bedroom in the south wing.

"Has Gil eaten?" Spring asked. Drusilla looked up from her coffee cup with that vague, inattentive way of hers.

Dirk answered, "Yes. He and Moira have work at the shop. He said for us to come over this morning and he'd show us around."

THERE was a smothered little cry from the other side of the table. Jo stood up, white and indignant.

"How can you!" she demanded. "How can you go on as if nothing has happened?"

Dirk looked at Jo with pity. He said, "Jo, you hate Spring and me. But neither Spring nor I killed Elvan. Don't torture yourself this way. We didn't take him from you."

Jo's hands pressed hard against her cheeks. Staring at Spring she said, "I hate you. I hate you! I hate you! And then she ran out of the room."

Dirk and Spring sat together for a long time after the others had gone. Dirk drew aimless diagrams on an envelope.

It was hard for Spring to tag her feelings. What she had felt for Elvan two years ago was that warm, close feeling of friendship sometimes mistaken for love. She ican planes which bombed Berlin yesterday and flew on to Russia used an airbase at Poltava in the Ukraine, 1,500 miles from London. The Allies announced that some fighter planes escorting the Berlin bombers also flew to Russia.)

Last night Berlin was attacked by speedy Mosquitos, while British Lancasters hit Ruhr and Rhineland objectives.

Close upon the Fortress-Liberator blow at the Pas-de-Calais area in the morning another great fleet roared out over the channel in the same direction this afternoon, stirring up a great barrage of anti-aircraft and rocket fire from the Germans' coastal defenses.

These attacks capped 24 hours of tremendous activity, including the U. S. Air Force's shuttle raid from Britain to Russia.

A Moscow communique from the headquarters of the eastern command of the U. S. Strategic Air Force said three bombers and two escorting fighters were lost on the flight to Russian air bases. Synthetic oil refineries and installations at Ruhland, southeast of Berlin, were bombed by a large force.

Forty-six bombers were missing from the widespread British operations, which included mine-laying in enemy waters.

The German radio warned today that Allied planes were over Styria—perhaps indicating that American bombers from Italy were out.

The daylight raid against Berlin by a fleet of more than 1,000 U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 1,200 escorting fighters was the greatest of the war against the Reich capital. It was disclosed that some of the fighters, as well as some of the heavy bombers, made the shuttle flight between Britain and the Soviet Union.

national committeeman and "draft Dewey" leader, arranged a similar conference 30 minutes later.

Bricker's backers claimed new support with J. Frank McDermott, Attica publisher, reporting the Ohioan would get 17 of Indiana's 29 votes.

An array of party leaders, including former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, predicted it would be Dewey in a breeze.

H. Alexander Smith, New Jersey GOP senatorial nominee, told a reporter he heard serious proposals that Bricker "make it unanimous" by taking the convention floor to suggest Dewey's nomination.

Told of this, A. N. Hoopingarner, a Bricker publicity director, laughed it off, while another said: "We think it should be the other way around—Dewey should nominate Bricker."

Child Revived

After Falling Into Allegheny

Romaine Kondok, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kondok, RD 3, Starbrick, was brought to the Warren General hospital about 1:45 o'clock this afternoon for emergency treatment after she had fallen into the Allegheny river near her home, and appeared in a state of exhaustion from her drowning experience. She had almost recovered upon arrival and after examination by a physician was discharged.

When news was circulated that the child had fallen into the stream and had been rescued word was sent to the hospital that she was being taken there for treatment. The hospital in turn summoned the inhalator from the fire department, but fortunately it was not needed.

The incident suggests the importance of first notifying the fire department in such an emergency since time is the most important element in reviving persons rescued from the water.

The child stated that she accidentally fell into the stream while walking near the river's edge. How she was rescued was not learned.

FOOD PRODUCTION!

What Does It Mean?

It means that as we progress in this war, take more prisoners, and capture more towns that we are going to have just that many more people to feed.

As Germany retreats with their scorched earth policy through the Balkans, the Netherlands, Norwegian Counay and all of France, we are going to have to stake those people to food until such time as crops may again be grown perhaps a year or a year and a half from now.

Should We Be Alarmed?

1. Due to a very high production last year, largely because of a bumper season, we had an abundance of food for our needs at that time, but a poor season can play havoc with this. We must produce even more than needed to always be ahead of drought and other crop damage.

2. Due to so many men being taken into the service and the severe labor shortage in the cities, the drain of man power from the farms has been terrific. It is estimated there are 4,000 less men on Pennsylvania farms than a year ago.

3. Last year many people worked on farms because it was more or less of an adventure for them. In many cases this has worn off. As the war progresses many people are inclined to become indifferent to the importance of the war effort. We must not let up now.

What Can You Do To Help?

If you are already employed in a war job or any of those persons that are so kindly cooperating with us in this effort to obtain help, we do not want you to take time off from your present job, but if you would be willing to work on "off time" or "vacation time", or if you are not employed we are sure you can make no better contribution of your time than helping with the harvesting of crops.

If you feel unable to do this kind of work then try to give more of your time for other war needs and thus others may be able to be released for this purpose.

Happy Time At Annual Picnic By Merchants

Retail merchants and their employees had a most enjoyable time yesterday afternoon and last evening when they held their annual picnic at Oakview Park. The gathering, staged to get the merchants more firmly cemented into one happy family, served that purpose 100%.

A softball game in the afternoon between Pettits and Woods resulted in a victory for the former, although efforts to locate an official score were to no avail. Both horseshoe courts were kept fully occupied until dark, swings were busy and even the teeter-totter was in frequent use.

Warren Stone, squadron leader for the Civil Air Patrol, requested time for announcement concerning resumption of the CAP Cadet recruiting program and asked the cooperation of the merchants in promoting this very worthwhile contribution to the war and defense effort.

Through a public address system provided by Irving F. Tetzel and his WJTN staff from Jamestown, this message was brought to the entire crowd as was the recording of a dictaphone account of a retail merchants' committee meeting which followed.

A singer was provided by the broadcasting station, also, as was recorded music throughout the afternoon and early evening.

At 6:30 a bountiful chicken dinner was served to 125 persons at two long tables in the open pavilion, with plenty of chicken, trimmings of all kinds, hot coffee served by A. F. Kottcamp and his assistant, Katherine Butterfield, and to top it all, apple pie and cheese. An efficient corps behind the steam tables kept the line moving right along and everyone was served while the viands were still steaming hot.

Committees worked hard to insure the success of the affair and their efforts were well worth the frequent commendations expressed by the picknickers. Heading the whole affair were George Frantz, Paul Braunschweiger and Frank Wood, with able assistance from these members of the retail merchants committee: Chairman Ben Kinnear, J. A. Blomquist, E. L. Stein, H. B. Pettit, W. H. Cannon, Louis Frederickson.

Public acknowledgement was made for the WJTN facilities and to W. A. Walker and Nat Drake for their contributions to the entertainment.
